

David Collins

David Collins, the European design impresario whose credits include Restaurant Gordon Ramsey in London, The London Hotel in New York City and private homes for select clients in Europe, makes his residential debut in the United States with a singularly elegant residential property on Manhattan's Upper East Side: The Charles.

The Charles by David Collins offers a limited collection of exquisitely designed, full and half-floor homes, exclusive social and recreational spaces and flawless personal service within an atmosphere resonant of a traditional private club. Mr. Collins' selection of rare and precious materials and his introduction of artisanal finishes have resulted in homes that perfectly balance classical and contemporary standards of beauty.

We invite you to inquire for further details about the unparalleled quality of life available at The Charles by David Collins.
